THE CONCEPT

At a time when there is an increasing dependence on extensive and expensive investigative tests and use of medicines for treating even small ailment, the idea of a LIFE WITHOUT MEDICINES may sound far-fetched and even hard to believe.

Time and again, it becomes evident that we have only one disease – NATURE DEFICIT DISORDER. The modern way of life continues to push us further and further away from these roots. This deep immersion program seeks to help you reconnect with the natural energy that flows through our cells, giving you insights on how our mind, body and spirit strike a balance for inner peace & joy as we deeply listen to our bodies.

Over the years, this simple idea of how to recompensate the dearth of Nature in our life has been crafted and developed into a proven health empowerment program. This "Lifestyle Correction Program" is what we lovingly call Life Without Medicine.

THE STORY BEHIND LIFE WITHOUT MEDICINE

Life Without Medicine began as a personal experiment. Years ago, physicians at Team Sumiran — including Dr. Ranjana Garg (MBBS, DCH) and Dr. Monika Gupta (MBBS) — became curious about a simple question: what happens when the basics of healthy living are taken seriously, and practised consistently?

They tested it on themselves and their families first — clean air, mineral-rich water, abundant sunlight, farm-fresh organic food, and real physical movement, within a 300-acre stretch of once-barren land they began cultivating near Bhopal in 2006.

The results were encouraging enough that friends, then strangers, began asking to experience it for themselves. In 2018, this lived experiment became a structured four-day immersion — and has since welcomed more than 1,000 participants, across every age group.

THE CHALLENGE & IT'S SOLUTIONS

There exists a strong correlation between how humans over last 50 years have diminished the nutritional and healing capacity of our food by injecting too many medicines into the soil and how modern medical science has refused to accept the self-healing capacity of our body by following the right lifestyle.

Over subsequent years, we have gathered enough evidence that overdependence on allopathic medicines for eliminating symptoms rather than treating the root cause of the problem is creating the same kind of problems to human health as those created by excessive use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides on soil and crop.

These short comings of the modern so called scientific approach to restoring health and well-being is a huge challenge that we, as human beings, are facing today. And it is this challenge that we seek to address through this groundbreaking approach to life called LIFE WITHOUT MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE WE OFFERING?

LIFE WITHOUT MEDICINE is not a "pathy" of medicine. It is an easy to understand, easy to follow and implement lifestyle, based upon the six vital elements of life made available to all by nature – Air, Nutrition, Sunlight, Water, Exercise and Rest.

In short, we are here to offer you an ANSWER to what constitutes "HEALTH".

Air, Attitude

Your mindset determines your health destiny.

Every cell needs oxygen to survive, yet we've forgotten how to breathe!

Nutrition

Food is information, not just calories. Every bite sends messages to your genes, turning them on or off. We'll teach you what to eat (whole, fresh, local), when to eat (circadian eating), how to eat (mindful, grateful).

Sunlight

Sunlight isn't just for vitamin D – We'll teach you solar therapy – how to use sunlight safely for healing.

Water

You're 70% water, We'll teach you water therapy. Water is medicine – when used correctly!"

Exercise, Entertainment

Movement is medicine, but most exercise wrong! You'll learn why working out isn't working out, and how to move for longevity, not just looks."

Rest

Sleep isn't luxury, it's life-saving! We'll teach you sleep hygiene, power naps, active recovery, stress release techniques.

WHAT YOU'LL EXPERIENCE

Across interactive sessions, outdoor immersions, and deep reflections, you'll explore:

- 1 The miracle of the human cell
 - 2 The impact of sugar and fat
 - 3 Alkalinity & acidity of your lifestyle
 - 4 Food nutrition & how the body handles it
 - 5 Emotions, free radicals & antioxidants
 - 6 Micro-organisms, their impact & immunity building

IS THIS COURSE FOR YOU?

This program is designed to be suitable and safe for all. Past participants have been people ranging from 15 years up to 90 years of age.

The course has had patients of all kinds suffering from single to multiple diseases, mild to very serious, acute to chronic including Diabetes, Hypertension, Obesity, Fatty liver, Arthritis, Age related problems, cancer, chronic migraines, and auto-immune diseases.

However, it is possible that the infrastructure/facilities at the venue may be unsuitable or inconvenient for people who are physically incapacitated or debilitated. In such cases, please connect with us and allow us to plan the course better for your needs.

Ready to put an end to chronic health struggles and reclaim your vitality?

Since most of the lifestyle diseases have a multifactorial causation and develop over a long period of time, the tenets of this course, once understood, and followed correctly, should help in prevention as well as in reversing progression of most disease conditions. That has been the feedback received by us from many past participants.

What You May Take Back With You

1. Understand health at its roots

Move beyond symptoms and prescriptions to understand the science of health, disease and the body's natural capacity for repair.

2. Replace fear with understanding

Question the belief that disease and declining health are simply inevitable companions of modern life.

3. Learn a practical framework for health

Discover the ANSWER Framework—a simple way to understand, assess and respond to what the body is communicating.

4. Rediscover the intelligence of nature

Explore how food, movement, rest, environment, relationships and daily rhythms can work together with the body's natural processes.

5. Develop ownership, not dependence

Gain the knowledge and conviction to participate consciously in your own health, rather than leaving it entirely to a system of symptom management. Take charge of your body.

6. Make health compatible with real life

Discover practices that can be woven into a fast-paced life—not as another discipline to follow, but as a more natural way of living.

7. Feel the difference, not merely hear about it

Sometimes understanding begins when something is experienced. The possibility of a felt shift within four days offers an opportunity to observe, rather than simply believe. Seeing is believing.

8. Rediscover the quiet dimensions of health

As the struggle with the body begins to soften, there may be space to rediscover something equally important—ease, peace, vitality and joy in living.
